- 27 & 28 September 2019
- Gettysburg, Adams Co., PA

Dear Wertman Descendants,

The 2019 Wertman Family Reunion focuses on at least six related Wertman family members who participated in the greatest battle that has ever taken place on the North American continent – Gettysburg. It is known as the turning point of the Civil War. Please consider bringing your children and grandchildren for the opportunity to learn about their own and this country's history by being there. This sort of history is not taught in schools!

On 4 March 1861, Abraham Lincoln stood at the United States Capitol to deliver his first Inaugural Address. Trying to prevent a war that was to come, he said, "Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature." He was talking about Revolutionary War patriots who fought to create this nation.

Perhaps similar mystic chords of memory, but from our many Wertman relatives who fought to preserve this Union, will stretch forth from every battlefield and grave to your living heart. The Wertman soldiers in blue came from Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Ohio, and would serve in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Virginia. Some were captured, some wounded; many fell seriously ill; and at least three were laid to rest in national military cemeteries far from their families. Those who came home were profoundly affected the rest of their lives.

On Friday we will have a Wertman Research meeting in the morning followed by a visit to the National Park Service Visitor Center in the afternoon. This includes a film, Cyclorama, and Museum. There will be a Family Dinner and Speaker in the evening. On Saturday, we will walk in the footsteps of those who fought in this greatest battle of the war by touring the battlefield on a coach bus.

When dedicating the Monument to the 20th Maine Regiment on the field at Gettysburg, General Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain said: "In great deeds, something abides. On great fields, something stays. Forms change and pass; bodies disappear; but spirits linger, to consecrate ground for the vision-place of souls. And reverent men and women from afar, and generations that know us not and that we know not of, heart-drawn to see where and by whom great things were suffered and done for them, shall come to this deathless field, to ponder and dream; and lo! The shadow of a mighty presence shall wrap them in its bosom, and the power of the vision pass into their souls.”

Please come to Gettysburg this September and join us at our reunion events. Let our families’ soldiers’ vision pass into your soul.

Why Gettysburg?

By Russell C. Dannecker,

WFA Research Meeting 2018

The Significance of Gettysburg

- July 1 to July 3, 1863
- Confederate Army vs Union Army
It would determine whether General Lee's invasion of the North would be successful. He also wanted to gather supplies from the North, and hoped a major victory in Union territory would make the Union lose the will to fight.
- Union army: The tide of the war turned in the Union's favor.
- Confederate army: The second and final attempt to invade the North seriously weakened their army.

The Losses

Largest Regimental Loss in a single battle

26th North Carolina Infantry at Gettysburg went into battle with 800; by end of third day, 708 were dead, wounded or missing. In one Company of 84, every officer and man was hit.

Largest Numerical Loss in a single battle

- Union — 21% were killed or wounded.
- Confederate — 30% killed or wounded
- Over 51,000 Casualties in three days.
23,000 Union soldiers
28,000 - Confederate soldiers
8,000 - killed

Significance of Union Victory

- Eradicated Slavery — Paved the way for Civil Rights Legislation
- Established Abraham Lincoln as an important figure in United States and world history
- Kept the young country together

2018 Reunion Minutes

Family Research Meeting

Sugarcreek, OH, 17 August 2018

Tuscarawas County Wertman Research – Richard Daniels (Richard provided all meeting participants with a CD containing the texts of his two presentations plus the list of all Tuscarawas burials of Wertman relatives.)

The Tuscarawas Wertmans are connected to the George Philip Wertman 1 (GP1) family. DNA testing showed this, but there is no paper trail.

Jacob Wertman was born 08 February 1806 in Northumberland Co., PA, and then moved with his parents to Mifflin Co., PA, and Bedford Co., PA, before settling in Dover Twp., Tuscarawas Co., OH, in 1855. He was found in Sugarcreek by the 1870 census and died 11 March 1889. He is buried at Union Hill Cemetery in Sugarcreek (which we could see from the Carlisle Inn, where we met). We need to find the names of his parents; they were not listed in his obituary.

Jacob Wertman was married to Sarah Harris. They had 12 children. Richard gave a detailed presentation on the twelve, their children, who they married, and where they were buried.

Methods of Research – Richard Daniels

There are over 10,000 descendants of GP1. This presentation was divided into three periods; each requires different research tools and methods:

Before 1850 Census -- County libraries; genealogical and historical societies (old newspapers, local histories); church records (including cemetery records); court house (land records, wills, probates, miscellaneous deeds); U.S. and state archives, including early military records.

Between 1850 and 1940 -- U.S. and state census; birth, marriage, and death indexes; death certificates; military records (Civil War, World War I); city directories; FindAGrave.com; BillionGraves.com.

After 1940 -- Social Security Death Index; Social Security Application and Claim Index; obituaries; U.S. Public Records Index; military records (World War II, Korean War); FindAGrave.com; BillionGraves.com.

What to do with your research:

- Document it – write it down

- References – where you got your information
- Distribute – paper; electronic

Ohio Civil War Soldiers – Russ Dannecker

Jacob and Sarah Wertman:

- Daughter Anna M. Wertman married James S. Gordon, who served in Co. I of the 171st Pennsylvania Regiment; was a Sergeant
- Daughter Rachel Wertman married James Kilgore, who served in Co. K of the 163rd Ohio Regiment [see article, pg. 9]
- Daughter Mary Wertman married William R. Blackburn, who was a Quaker who served in the 2nd Pennsylvania Cavalry

Other Wertman Families of Northeast Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania – Prepared by Hal Merz; delivered by Shirley Daniels in his absence

Several families with the Wertman and similarly spelled surnames located in NE Ohio and NW Pennsylvania moved to the area in the early 1800s. Some new information has been discovered that may help, but more research is needed.

Peter Musser (1740-1808) and Margaret (Wertman) Musser (1743-1821) – this family came to Ohio circa 1801. We have no information on Margaret's family.

Jacob Wertman (1799-1871) and Rebecca Smith Wertman – This family lived in Lawrence Co., PA, very close to the Ohio border. Proof has not been established, but some evidence suggests he could be the son of the Jacob Wertman who died in 1806 in Northumberland Co., PA.

Michael Wertman (1765-1837) – He and his family appear to have located in Columbiana Co., OH, in 1810 and later moved to Liberty Twp., Trumbull Co., OH. The graveyard where he is buried is the final resting place of several families who were Wertman neighbors that migrated from Lynn Twp., Northampton Co., PA, — Oswalds and Everetts. His descendants mostly adopted the spelling Wortman. Some of his male descendants with the Wortman surname still live in NE Ohio. A descendant has been tested who matches the GP1 haplotype.

EBay Wertmans – Russ Dannecker

Russ again emphasized the value of looking on eBay for Wertman-related materials. He bought a photograph of Marine Sergeant Albert P. Wertman, a former POW from the Korean War who was captured in February 1952 and released in August 1953. Albert's father was Charles V., his mother Mabel. Albert has ties back to our family.

Too Many Jacobs – Tom Young

A lot of early researchers made assumptions. Some of these are known to be wrong; some we believe are wrong. Many Wertman researchers are aware that primary documents on early Wertman generations are hard to come by.

Using lists of Oaths of Allegiance, militia membership, confirmation classes, taxes, assessments, censuses, and Revolutionary War pensions to trace early Wertman ancestors, Tom's unproven conclusion is that it is likely that Jacob of Northumberland is the son of GP1's son Michael, and Jacob of Schuylkill is the son of GP1's son Jacob. In discussing the sons of GP1, Tom said that Michael's family generally moved away, and Jacob's family generally stayed home.

Wertman Big Y – Tom Young

Tom explained in detail the results of STR (Single Tandem Repeat) tests of 14 individuals. Thirteen of the 14 match each other with 0-4 mis-matches. All match the probable haplotype of George Philip 1 within two mis-matches. It is a good, tight group of matches. The 14th, John of Northumberland, has five mis-matches. He is likely related but is a statistical outlier. Determining the probable haplotype of GP1 is a worthwhile first step.

The secondary goal is to learn if other groups of Wertmans whose relationships to GP1 are not yet known are related to GP1. Five individuals tested whose ancestors are of unknown origin are, in fact, related to GP1. For example, Jacob Wertman, who is buried in Union Hill cemetery in Sugarcreek and has a large number of descendants buried in cemeteries in the Sugarcreek area, is related to GP1.

The primary goal is to learn George Philip 1's ancestors. This has not yet been accomplished. Big Y is a discovery test (SNP or Single Nucleotide Polymorphism) rather than a verification test (STR). Results provide a distant archeological time frame. As more men test, we hope that matches will refine the results to a genealogical time frame. This is a very active area of research and the future of Y DNA testing.

2019 Reunion, Gettysburg – Russ Dannecker

Seventy-six Wertman soldiers from the Civil War have been identified so far. Seventy are definitely related through a DNA connection with one of four sons of GP1 (Jacob, Michael, Simon, and Martin). A handful married into the family. Six are known to have been at Gettysburg [see pg. 3]:

- Daniel Heimbach (Himebaugh), Co. B, 1st Michigan Infantry Regiment
- William G. Moffett, Co. G, Its Battalion, 14th U.S. Regular Infantry
- Three brothers: Aaron and Gideon Moser – Co. E, 28th Pennsylvania; and Joseph Moser, Co. H, 11th Pennsylvania (the Wertmans and Mosers lived in New Tripoli)
- Jacob Vogel, 2nd Battalion, 11th U.S. Regular Infantry (wounded).

2018 Business Meeting, Tuscora Park, New Philadelphia, OH, 18 August 2018

The 19th annual business meeting was called to order by President Russ Dannecker at 1:03 p.m. Twenty-five members were present for the meeting.

Maryann Cronk reported that the WFA's balance as of 10 August 2018 was $6,095.09, with some expenses for the 2018 reunion not yet paid. A motion to accept the report was seconded and approved unanimously.

Report on the Ancestry Committee

Tom Young reported that the website yields quite a few ancestral inquiries. When directed to him, he solves what he can and forwards the results to Russ. The more complicated cases are shared with Russ, Tom, and others for a group solution.

Report on the DNA Project

Tom Young reported that Phase 1, determining the probable George Philip 1 haplotype using known descendants, is complete. Phase 2, determining if branches of unknown ancestry are related to GP1, is ongoing. There are always more branches to explore. STR (Single Tandem Repeat) tests were used for phases 1 and 2. Phase 3, determining GP1's origins uses a SNP (Single Nucleotide Polymorphism) test and is ongoing. Current results provide a distant archeological time frame. As more men test, we hope that matches will refine the results to a genealogical time frame. This is a very active area of research and the future of Y DNA testing.

Sarah Killgore Wertman

by Russell C. Dannecker

The Wertman family spread from coast to coast; so, as you travel, always look for our family. In December 2018, Barbara and I traveled to Seattle, WA, to visit our son Max and his family for Christmas. Being curious, I searched Find-A-Grave for Wertmans buried in Washington state. As it turned out, some of our family is buried in Seattle!

After a visit to the Space Needle, my wife, son, two grandchildren, and I (three generations) visited the Mount Pleasant Cemetery in the Queen Anne section of Seattle. With the help of cemetery staff, we located the graves of Sarah Wertman, nee Killgore (1843-1935), [wife of Jackson Shields Wertman⁵ (1846-1909); William Wertman⁴ (1815-1880); Johann Jacob Wertman³ (1785-1863); Simon P. Wertman² (1747-1820); George Philip Wertman¹], her daughter, Helen Madge Waddington (1881-1919), her son, Shields Killgore Wertman (1877-1955), and his wife, Eva M., nee McKinney (1887-1960). Find-A-Grave states that Sarah's husband, Jackson, is buried in Seattle. Not true! He died at the home of his sister in Ohio, and is probably buried in the Ashland Cemetery.

An American lawyer, Sarah was a quite famous individual. She was born to David and Elizabeth Killgore in Jefferson, Clinton Co., IN, 01 March 1843 and died 21 May 1935 in Seattle, King Co., WA. She was the first woman to study law at the University of Michigan, one of the first women to receive a degree from the University, and the first woman to be admitted to the State Bar of Michigan (or of any United States bar) and to practice before the Supreme Court of Michigan..

Her religious upbringing and early, liberal education from her parents led Sarah to attend seminary school, graduating from Ladoga (IN) Seminary in 1862. Then came a period of school-teaching which lasted until 1869. Her father was a prominent local attorney and encouraged his daughter's study of law. She began at Chicago University (now the University of Chicago) in 1869. Meanwhile, Michigan had just opened its doors to women and on account of the greater convenience it afforded her, she completed her studies there. She graduated with an LLB in March 1871. Later that year she was admitted to the Michigan State Bar. Soon after her graduation, however, she became an invalid for more than a year, delaying her period of active practice.

She became the wife of Jackson S. Wertman, a practicing attorney of Indianapolis, on 16 June 1875. The statutes of Indiana at the time, unfortunately for her, required for admission to the Bar, “male citizens of good moral character;” hence she was compelled to content herself with practicing real estate matters as well as office tasks, while her husband made court appearances.

The couple had three children, Shields K., Helen M., and Clay (who died in infancy). In November 1878, they moved to Ashland, OH, where, as soon as the care of her two children permitted, Sarah resumed her profession and engaged with her husband in the practice of law and the business of abstracting. She was admitted to the Ohio Bar at Columbus in 1893. She returned to her husband’s law practice, specializing in real estate law.

Sarah was a lifelong member of the Equity Club, an organization of women lawyers based at the University of Michigan. The club began with a small group of women at her alma mater, and soon developed into a nationwide correspondence club for all women involved in the legal profession. The Equity Club provided female lawyers and law students with a way to transcend the geographic distance that separated them and to build a community of women with similar professional interests and concerns. In their letters to each other, the members grappled with the professional identity of women lawyers and how to strike a balance between their femininity and their professional roles.

In a letter to the members of the Equity Club on 07 May 1888, Sarah wrote, “Woman’s place in the practice of law, as elsewhere, is not so much to bring to it wisdom and justice, as the purifying graces....” She believed that women lawyers should emphasize their femininity and alleged inherent moral superiority in order to uplift the legal profession. As one of the first woman lawyers in the nation, Sarah did not question or fight against gender stereotypes, but rather embraced and embodied the Victorian Lady ideal of the day, while practicing law.

Sometime later, she and her husband followed their son and daughter west, where she lived with her son in Seattle, still active and well-informed. Among her associations were some of the foremost women in her time, such as: Elizabeth Stanton, reformer and philanthropist; Mary Thompson Hill Willard, mother of Frances E. Willard; Zerelda Gray Wallace, the step-mother of Gen. Lewis Wallace, the author of Ben Hur; Belva Ann Lockwood, who graduated from the National University Law School, Washington, D. C., in 1873; and others.

About The Wertman Family Association (WFA)

Since 2000, the rejuvenated Wertman Family Association has held annual reunions in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, New York, and Virginia. Those who attend learn more about relatives who lived before them, and form relationships with cousins from around the country. A unique feature of these events is a full-day session for researchers to share their discoveries. An earlier family association held reunion picnics in Pennsylvania and Michigan for a large group of relatives in the 1920s and 1930s.

Via our website, wertman.info, strangers can discover long-lost family connections. The Wertman web pages disseminate accurate information about the family's heritage. In August 2007, the association dedicated a monument in the old graveyard at Ebenezer Union Church in New Tripoli, Lehigh Co., PA. The black granite stone is in memory of the Wertman family that came to Lynn Township by 1749, including the "founding father," George Philip Wertman (a deacon at Ebenezer Church), and his five known sons, George Philip, Jacob, Johann Martin, Johann Michael, and Simon.
